350 DELEGATES TO BE SEATED IN CONVENTION

Jamestown Republican Convention to be Larger Than One Two Years Ago

I. V. A. SEEK CHAIRMAN

Committee Named to Consider Campaign Manager; Report to be Made Later

Holding of the Republican state convention at Jamestown on Wednesday, April 23, to name the independent ticket for the June state primary, will give two months and two days for a campaign, the primary coming on Tuesday, June 24.

Members of the "Real Republican" executive committee which met at Fargo Saturday and decided upon the date of the convention included J. D. Bacon, Grand Forks; George Dickinson, Minneapolis; B. A. Corbin, Minn.; Porter W. Eddy, Jamestown; O. J. Seale, Bismarck; E. T. Burke, Bismarck and Horace Young, holding the proxy of Treadwell Twichell.

The next move in the lineup will be from the Democratic side. What may be done regarding a convention to name candidates, or to not name candidates and let the Jamestown convention delegation and the league ticket fight it out in the Republican primary, is still a matter of discussion.

The convention to be held at Jamestown will have approximately 350 delegates in all, according to Judge Burke, who returned from the meeting, being some larger than the convention two years ago. The apportionment will be based upon the vote for Governor Nestos in 1922.

The Burleigh county convention will be held on April 19, and just before that caucuses will be held in precincts throughout the county to name delegates, Judge Burke added.

The I. V. A. executive committee, after accepting the resignation of L. Twichell as chairman, named a committee consisting of H. P. Godard, Bismarck; Louis Neimeyer, Jamestown and John Pollock, Fargo, to consider the matter of selecting a campaign chairman and a meeting of the committee probably will be held at a later date to receive the report of the committee.

Trouble in Williams

The Williams County Nonpartisan league convention ran into difficulties over its county ticket. The Williams league paper's account of the convention says:

"The Nonpartisan League convention called by the County Executive committee for the purpose of settling certain problems in connection with the county ticket met at the Court house last Tuesday evening with an attendance of about forty delegates. A credential committee composed of Christian Holl, Peter Colliton and Wm. Freeman was appointed by Chairman Winger to see that the delegates were seated. Judge Winger and County Superintendent Hillier were asked to give tickets before the convention.

"H. B. Winger in a few short remarks stated that he believes in the principles of the Nonpartisan League and that he could not support the ticket placed in nomination at the last convention. Geo. H. Hillier told his work in connection with the public school system and expressed sentiments similar to those of Judge Winger in regard to the county candidates. Talks were also delivered by H. B. Winger, C. Miller, Peter Colliton, Mr. Bjerketh, O. A. Mattingly, Christian Holl and O. L. Alsop.

"Mr. Miller attacked the attitude of the Williams Herald upon the indicted measures and charged that paper with being a representative of big business. Ben Fiedt, candidate for county treasurer on the League ticket, answered the charge that was made stating that the last convention was fixed. He said that that charge was always made by disappointed office seekers after every convention he had attended. He paid a tribute to Herman Nelson, the candidate for county treasurer two years ago, and said that if he had been elected the county would not have lost such vast sums of money in closed banks in the county.

"Peter Colliton stated that labor was not represented at the last convention and that the delegates were elected at large in the City of Williston. Discussion then took place regarding the resolution asking all candidates nominated at the last convention to support the county ticket that was presented to Judge Winger and Superintendent Hillier and which they refused to sign. After this discussion a motion was made that the ticket as endorsed at the last convention should stand and it was passed.

"C. L. Bakken in an address referred to the attack that is being made by the opposition regarding several candidates having gone through bankruptcy. Mr. Bakken admitted that it had become necessary for him to take bankruptcy and said: "I was bankrupt and I admitted it and took the cure; you fellows are all bankrupt but you don't know it." This brought forth considerable applause. A committee was appointed to appear before Winger and Hillier regarding (Continued on page 3)

New York, March 31.—Federal Judge Garbin today ordered a bench warrant issued for the arrest of Gaston B. Means, former agent of the Department of Justice, who is under indictment for conspiracy to violate the Volstead law and whose trial was to have begun today.

The indictment against Means, returned October 19, contained four counts, the first alleging he entered into a conspiracy to obtain the release of 12,000 cases and 12,500 barrels of whiskey from government warehouses. The second involved 55 barrels of whiskey, the third 88 barrels and the fourth conspiracy to use the mails and fraud in connection with an attempt to obtain $75,000 from a man in Chicago for release of liquor from government warehouses.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE OPEN

Some Demand for Farm Labor at Local Office

Some demand for farm labor is being felt now, H. A. Broopoff, in charge of the state free employment office in the Bismarck Impement Company building, said today.

Demand chiefly is for single men to work on farms by the month. About $40 a month seems to be the average wage offered, together with "keep" while on the job, he said. A few inquiries have been made for men and wives to work on farms, but since those desiring such help usually want to talk the matter over with applicants, no set wage has been offered. A few inquiries have been made for women housekeepers.

Demand from the office now is entirely for farm labor. It is understood the Northern Pacific railroad later will ask that men be hired for truck work during the summer.

TRACE THIRD MAN IN CASE

Authorities Hope to Locate Man with Two Who Were Slain

Jamestown, N. D., March 31.—When the bodies of the two men, Winfred Stookey and James E. Brown, slain at the straw pile just outside of Jamestown last August, were claimed by the relatives of Gibson City, Mo., it was first learned that a third man had accompanied these boys by auto from the harvest fields of Kansas. Investigation was immediately started to trace this man in the belief that he had something to do with the crime or could at least explain what became of the auto which one of the murdered men had purchased in Kansas and in which the three men were known to have come as far as Aberdeen, South Dakota.

The official action was in who the man, who had at one stop in Nebraska a guard his name "Jim Gates," comes to local authorities, from a deputy sheriff in Kansas who gives the man's supposed home address in the state of Kentucky and labels him a desperate character. States Attorney Russell in case is following up the information in the hopes of finally locating the man, "Jim Gates," and to see what he knows about the murder morning to which Joe Berger now serving life sentence in the state penitentiary, has confessed.

STATE OFFICER STRIKES BACK AFTER CHARGES

Gilbert Semingson, Examiner, Declares Grand Jury Found Complaints Baseless

CALLS CHARGES FALSE

Declares That U. L. Burdick's Charge is Untrue—Going There Voluntarily

The charges made in the complaint on which a warrant was issued in Williston for his arrest on a charge of failing to perform his duty in connection with the operation of the Williams County State Bank, now closed, were considered by the special grand jury convened there and the grand jury voted to take no action on them, Gilbert Semingson, state examiner, declared here today.

"I am informed by Frank Fisk of Williston that the grand jury considered this matter, that it took a vote and the vote was that there was no basis to the charge," said Mr. Semingson. "This was the last action of the grand jury, which then adjourned."

U. L. Burdick, whom Mr. Semingson declared had no official status in connection with the investigation, then swore out a complaint before a justice of the peace.

Mr. Semingson wired the Williams county officials they need not send an officer for him. His wire, sent after learning through newspapers of the action, follows: "Earl Ericson, sheriff, Williams county. Notice by the press that you hold a warrant for my arrest. I will come voluntarily without the serving of warrant."

He declared that "the charge is deliberately false."

The hearing, set for Wednesday, was postponed until Friday.

SEEKS JOB

Williston, N. D., March 31.—A second request that he be appointed special assistant states attorney to the county in civil actions that may arise out of the closing of various banks in this county as well as to investigate any further criminal matters, was made to Judge George H. Moelling here late yesterday by Attorney Leshel L. Burdick, formerly of this city and now residing in Fargo.

A previous request to the same effect was not granted by Judge Moelling.

News of an unofficial nature which has leaked out from the grand jury room during the time that that body was in session was to the effect that the jurors had declined to return indictments against certain state officials connected with the banking department finding that they were in no way responsible for the apparent complicated state of matters growing out of the closing of various banks.

WARRANT ISSUED

Williston, N. D., March 31.—On a complaint filed by Usher L. Burdick, with the approval of States Attorney F. W. McGuiness, Judge John T. Austin, in justice court, late Saturday issued a warrant for the arrest of State Bank Examiner Gilbert Semingson of Bismarck. The charge is failure to perform his duty as bank examiner in respect to the Williams County State Bank of this city, alleging that he did wilfully, unlawfully and knowingly permit and direct the bank to operate contrary to the law when the bank was insolvent.

In connection with this arrest subpoenas have been issued for Thomas Hall, secretary of state and members of the state banking board, who is asked to bring records of the board here for the Semingson hearing and for C. R. Greene, manager of the Bank of North Dakota, who is asked to bring to the hearing the so-called voting trust agreement under which it is alleged that the stockholders of the Williams County State Bank turned their stock over to Semingson, Ed. Schultzeberg representing the First National bank of Minneapolis, Thorberg of the First National bank of St. Paul and Buffalo of the Buffalo Trust company, Buffalo, N. ## 'OFFENSIVE' IN CABINET-FIGHT GATHERS FORCE

Opponents of Secretary Mellon Renew Their Drive Upon Coolidge Adviser

ALSO IN THE SENATE

Double Action of Investigators and Senate Resolution Is Under Way

Washington, March 31.—The new offensive in the Senate against President Coolidge's cabinet directed this time against Secretary Mellon gathered momentum today while the committee investigating the internal revenue bureau resumed its examination of the tax records of Mellon companies.

The committee Thursday called for definite figures on "losses depletion" and other allowances granted the Gulf Oil Corporation, one of the Mellon oil companies, in its tax cases for 1917, 1918 and 1919 and this information was promised for today by bureau officials. The cases brought the corporation credits totalling $3,755,000 for "net excessive payments." The bureau's records of the matter were virtually unopposed by the committee in charge of Nelson Harrison, collector of the bureau, and S. M. Greenidge, an official, under oath as custodian.

To Press Demand

Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, meanwhile, was prepared to press for action on the resolution he introduced Friday calling for an investigation by a special committee of Mr. Mellon's legal qualifications to act as Secretary of the Treasury. Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, blocked consideration of the resolution Friday and it went over under the rules. No disposition was shown by Republican leaders, however, to show opposition to the resolution.

The resolution reviews testimony before the committee investigating revenue bureau with reference to companies in which Secretary Mellon is interested and cites statutes prohibiting fiscal agents of the government from maintaining commercial connections.

MEETS RESISTANCE

Washington, March 31.—The attack in the Senate on Secretary Mellon opened Friday, when Sen. McKellar, Democrat, introduced a resolution, calling for an investigation of Mr. Mellon's right to hold office, met resistance today by republicans.

BISMARCK MAN TELLS HOW STORM PARALYZED TWIN CITY BUSINESS

Minnesota Takes Blizzard Honors—Storm Declared Worst in 10 Years History—Train Service Halted, Northern Pacific Train Arriving Here 15 Hours Late

Minneapolis takes blizzard honors for the Northwest this winter. "I never saw a storm in North Dakota worse than the storm I saw in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and I never saw snow pile up anywhere like it did there," said E. M. Cray, who returned yesterday afternoon from the Twin Cities.

It was reported, he said, 18 inches of snow fell in St. Paul and two feet in Minneapolis. Other estimates put the snowfall a foot or more. Traffic was suspended Saturday and business disrupted in the Twin Cities. Railroad service was halted. The storm was characterized by Minneapolis weather bureau men as the worst in 40 years.

North Dakota, however, missed the storm, Mr. Cray said. There was no snow from Staples, Minnesota, to about 15 or 20 miles east of Bismarck.

"I saw a string of street cars piled up for a block near the railroad station in Minneapolis," he said. We happened to get a taxi that would take us from the hotel to the station about noon Saturday, but that was luck, for the taxis generally were not running. Almost all traffic was suspended.

"For 50 miles out of St. Paul the snow topped the snow fences along the railroad tracks."

FLOOD WATERS THREATENING MANY CITIES

Rapid Rise of Rivers Around Pittsburgh and Wheeling. W. Va., Cause Damage

WHOLE FAMILY LOST

Five Are Swept Down Potomac River. Swollen by Heavy Recent Rains

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 31.—Flood waters of the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers, swollen by rains and melted snow from the mountain regions of western Pennsylvania and West Virginia, were sweeping westward through the Ohio valley today. A stage of 41 feet was expected by noon at Wheeling, which would flood the district fronting the river bank. Streets in most of the Pittsburgh districts bordering the river were inundated, some to a depth of six or seven feet. Sunday when both the rivers left their channels. A stage of 29.2 feet, seven feet above flood, was reported, the highest in 11 years.

Much damage was done to industrial plants and many operations will be suspended until repairs are made. The waters were receding today.

Railroad transportation was greatly affected but service was being slowly restored.

Eight deaths in western Pennsylvania were attributed to the flood. Five others occurred at Kitamiller, Maryland, when an entire family was swept down the Potomac river.

SCHOOLS SUSPENDED

St. Paul, March 31.—Work of clearing highways and interrupted wire communication as a result of Friday and Saturday's blizzard in the Northwest was well under way today.

Telephone and telegraph companies sent out large crews to repair lines torn down when several thousand poles were snapped off by sleet and gale.

In Wisconsin it was estimated that 3,000 poles were down and hundreds were down in southern Minnesota. Only a few telegraph wires between here and Chicago were in working order.

Sioux Falls and several other South Dakota towns were cut off from the Twin Cities. It will be several weeks before conditions are again normal.

Railroads out of here reported most of their trains on time. Huge drifts and ice on the tracks today continued to tie up many of the street car lines in St. Paul and Minneapolis. Because of snow blocked streets and uncertain street car traffic public schools here were ordered closed today. Sessions probably will be resumed here tomorrow.

J. J. HASTINGS IS NEXT TO BE PUT ON TRIAL

Trial to Follow Conviction of H. J. Hagen in Court at Grand Forks

Grand Forks, March 31.—Trial of the case of the State of North Dakota against J. J. Hastings and H. J. Hagen on an indictment charging the making of false entries on the records of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo is to open Tuesday afternoon.

Now I want to pay for it as I don't feel right about it, inclosed you will find five dollars. He signed it 'Yours very truly for a right living.'"

Senator Dill said he expected to press his resolution at the earliest opportunity.

DAUGHERTY'S PROBERS WILL KEEP GOING

Intend to Hold Gaston Means in Spite of Federal Grand Jury Indictment

Washington, Mar. 31.—The Senate Daugherty investigation committee decided today to continue its inquiry in spite of the Daugherty's retirement to private life.

The members announced they intend to hold Gaston B. Means, former department of justice investigator, in attendance under a bench subpoena in spite of the issuance today of the warrant by the Federal Court at New York ordering Means' return there to answer charges of conspiracy.

The committee's committee objected to a when it resumes hearings tomorrow will be to call upon the faces of justice in prosecution of war fraud and anti-trust cases. A decision on the matter before the committee to call upon Mr. Daugherty's brother of the Attorney General cited before the Senators for contempt was postponed.

Shipments of potatoes over the division thus far total 11,500 cars. The grain shipments up to the present time total 91,947 cars, and it is estimated that all but ten per cent of the 1923 crop has been moved.

The total grain shipments off of the division for last year were 18,114 cars, almost double that of this year. The general traffic over the division is about the same as that of last year.

CALLS CHARGES FALSE

Declares That U. L. Burdick's Charge is Untrue—Going There Voluntarily

The charges made in the complaint on which a warrant was issued in Williston for his arrest on a charge of failing to perform his duty in connection with the operation of the Williams County State Bank, now closed, were considered by the special grand jury convened there and the grand jury returned a verdict of acquittal, declared here today.

"I am informed by Frank Fisk of Williston that the grand jury considered this matter, that it took a vote and the vote was that there was no basis to the charge," said Mr. Semingson. "This was the last action of the grand jury, which then adjourned."

U. L. Burdick, whom Mr. Semingson declared had no official status in connection with the investigation, then swore out a complaint before a justice of the peace.

Mr. Semingson wired the Williams county officials they need not send an officer for him. His wire, sent after learning through newspapers of the action, follows: Carl Erickson, sheriff Williams county. Notice by the press that you hold a warrant for my arrest. I will come voluntarily without the serving of warrant."

He declared that "the charge is liberally false."

The hearing set for Wednesday, was postponed until Friday.

SEEKS JOB

Williston, N. D., March 31.—A second request that he be appointed special assistant states attorney to "care for the interests of Williams county in civil actions that may arise out of the closing of various banks in this county as well as to investigate any further criminal matters," was made to Judge George H. Moellner by Usher L. Burdick, formerly of this city and now residing in Fargo.

A previous request to the same effect was not granted by Judge Moellner.

News of an unofficial nature which has leaked out from the grand jury rooms here during the time that that body was in session was to the effect that the jurors had declined to return indictments against certain state officials connected with the banking department finding that they were in no way responsible for the apparent complicated state of matters growing out of the closing of various banks.

WARRANT ISSUED

Williston, N. D., March 31.—On a complaint filed by Usher L. Burdick, with the approval of States Attorney F. W. McGuiness, Judge John T. Austin, in justice court, late Saturday issued a warrant for the arrest of State Bank Examiner Gilbert Semingson of Bismarck. The charge is failure to perform his duty as bank examiner in respect to the Williams County State Bank of this city, alleging that he did wilfully, unlawfully and knowingly permit and direct the bank to operate contrary to the law when the bank was insolvent.

In connection with this arrest, subpoenas have been issued for Thomas Hall, secretary of state and members of the state banking board, who is asked to bring records of the board here for the Semingson hearing and for C. R. Greene, manager of the Bank of North Dakota, who is asked to bring to the hearing the so called voting trust agreement under which it is alleged that the stockholders of the Williams County bank turned their stock over to Semingson, Ed. Schultenbergh representing the First National bank of Minneapolis, Thorberg of the First National bank of St. Paul and Bates of the Buffalo Trust company, Buffalo, New York, under the terms of which these four as trustees, obtained complete control of the local bank and of acts of its officers between December 13, 1920 and January 9, 1923.

Italians Will Study German

Mannheim, March 31. (A. P.)—Kurt Aigmar Gutkind has been summoned to Florence, Italy, to teach the German language and literature in the university there. He is a celebrated philologist, and is said to be the first German scientist called to teach in an enemy country since the armistice.

'OFFENSIVE' IN CABINET-FIGHT GATHERS FORCE

Opponents of Secretary Mellon Renew Their Drive Upon Coolidge Adviser

ALSO IN THE SENATE

Double Action of Investigators and Senate Resolution Is Under Way

Washington, Mar. 31.—The new offensive in the Senate against President Coolidge's cabinet directed this time against Secretary Mellon gathered momentum today while the committee investigating the internal revenue bureau resumed its examination of the tax records of "Mellon companies."

The committee Thursday called for definite figures on "lessee depletion" and other allowances granted the Gulf Oil Corporation, one of the Mellon oil companies, in its tax cases for 1917, 1918 and 1919 and this information was promised for today by bureau officials. The cases brought the corporation credits totalling $3,775,000 for "net excessive payments."

The bureau's records of the matter were virtually impounded by the committee in charge of Nelson Hutzon, solicitor of the bureau, and S. M. Greenidge, an official, under oath as custodian.

To Press Demand
Senator McKellar, Democrat, Tennessee, meanwhile, was prepared to press for action on the resolution he introduced Friday calling for an investigation by a special committee to act as Secretary of the Treasury, Senator Wadsworth, Republican, New York, blocked consideration of the resolution Friday and it went over the rules. No disposition was shown by Republican leaders, however, to show opposition to the resolution.

The resolution reviews testimony before the committee investigating revenue bureau with reference to companies in which Secretary Mellon is interested and cites statutes prohibiting fiscal agents of the government from maintaining commercial connections.

MEETS RESISTANCE

Washington, Mar. 31.—The attack in the Senate on Secretary Mellon opened Friday, when Sen. McKellar, Democrat, introduced a resolution, calling for an investigation of Mr. Mellon's right to hold office, met resistance today by Republicans.

MORE BANKS TO BE REOPENED

Minneapolis, Mar. 31.—The first bank to be reopened through assistance of funds advanced by the Agricultural Credit Corporation resumed business in North Dakota. It was the state bank of Wales, closed early in the fall of 1923 because of excess of stock paper.

Operations of the Agricultural Credit Corporation are in full swing and other bank reopenings may be expected, executives said.

The various members presented their observations on the report at a plenary session today. It is anticipated that the text will be ready for publication by Friday, although there is some inclination not to hurry the event until it is seen how the new Poincare event is received.

BISMARCK MAN TELLS HOW STORM PARALYZED TWIN CITY BUSINESS

Minnesota Takes Blizzard Honors—Storm Declared Worst in 10 Years History—Train Service Halted, Northern Pacific Train Arriving Here 15 Hours Late

Minnesota takes blizzard honors for the Northwest this winter. "I never saw a storm in North Dakota worse than the storm I saw in Minneapolis and St. Paul, and I never saw snow pile up anywhere like it did there," said E. M. Cray, who returned yesterday afternoon from the Twin Cities.

It was reported, he said, 18 inches of snow fell in St. Paul and two feet in Minneapolis. Other estimates put the snowfall a foot or more. Traffic was suspended Saturday and business disrupted in the Twin Cities. Railroad service was halted. The storm was characterized by Minneapolis weather bureau men as the worst in 40 years.

North Dakota, however, missed the storm, Mr. Cray said. There was no snow from Staples, Minnesota, to about 15 or 20 miles east of Bismarck.

"I saw a string of street cars piled up for a block near the railroad station in Minneapolis," he said. We happened to get a taxi that would take us from the hotel to the station about noon Saturday, but that was luck, for the taxis generally were not running. Almost all traffic was suspended.

"For 50 miles out of St. Paul the snow topped the snow fences along the railroad tracks."

The storm broke late Friday afternoon in the Twin Cities, but did not reach its intensity until during the night and it continued Saturday afternoon, he said. Mr. Cray expected to leave Minneapolis on Northern Pacific No. 7 about 9 a. m. Saturday, but it was after 3 p. m. before it got out of the yards. It was 10 o'clock Saturday night when the train got to Fargo, the first train from the Twin Cities to Fargo. He arrived here yesterday afternoon. Northern Pacific Train No. 3, due here at 10:46 Saturday night, got in Bismarck about 2:30 Sunday afternoon, followed by No. 1, due three hours earlier.

No. 3, Mr. Cray understood, got stuck in snowdrifts between Minneapolis and St. Cloud two or three times. It was still storming when his train left Little Falls, Minnesota, about 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Removal Cost High
Other Minneapolis reports said that motor buses and many trains were stalled in and around the Twin Cities street car service demoralized, and business almost suspended. Municipal authorities immediately after the cessation of the storm began endeavoring to clean off the streets. It was estimated it would cost $50,000 in Minneapolis alone to remove the snow.

Warnings were issued to people to clean snow off flat roofs, or the weight might cause them to give way. Neighborhood groceries were cleared of food, people being unable to get downtown.

SCHOOLS SUSPENDED
St. Paul, March 31.—Work of clearing highways and interrupted wire communication as a result of Friday and Saturday's blizzard in the Northwest was well under way today.

Telephone and telegraph companies sent out large crews to repair lines torn down when several thousand poles were snapped off by sleet and gale.

In Wisconsin it was estimated that 3,000 poles were down and hundreds were down in southern Minnesota. Only a few telegraph wires between here and Chicago were in working order.

Sioux Falls and several other South Dakota towns were cut off from the Twin Cities. It will be several weeks before conditions are again normal.

Railroads out of here reported most of their trains on time. Huge drifts and ice on the tracks today continued to tie up many of the street car lines in St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Because of snow blocked streets and uncertain street car service public schools here were ordered closed today. Sessions probably will be resumed here tomorrow.

J. J. HASTINGS IS NEXT TO BE PUT ON TRIAL

Trial to Follow Conviction of H. J. Hagen in Court at Grand Forks

Grand Forks, Mar. 31.—Trial of the case of the state of North Dakota against J. J. Hastings and H. J. Hagen on an indictment charging the making of false entries on the records of the Scandinavian-American Bank of Fargo is to open Tuesday afternoon.

It is expected, however, that separate trials of the two defendants will be asked in which the state intends to try Hastings first. Hastings formerly was Vice-President of the Scandinavian-American Bank. Hagen's conviction on a charge of accepting deposits in an insolvent bank Saturday evening may result in an appeal to the state supreme court.

PRODUCE TAX IS REINSERTED

Washington, Mar. 31.—The taxes on produce exchange sales and on drafts and promissory notes were restored to the revenue bill in the rates of the present law today.

Conscience Fund Is Given $5.00

The state was enriched today by $5 as a result of the stricken conscience of F. A. Raymond of Portland, Oregon.

"At one time," he wrote in a letter reaching State Treasurer Steen, "I lived in North Dakota and one of my neighbors persuaded me to go and get some timber along the Heart river that belonged to the state and I went. Now I want to pay for it as I don't feel right about it, enclosed you will find five dollars." He signed it "Yours very truly for a right living."

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—Movement of the 1923 potato crop over the Dakota division of the Great Northern railroad up to the present time exceeds that for a corresponding period of the preceding season by 2,000 cars, according to division headquarters.

Shipments of potatoes over the division thus far total 11,500 cars. The grain shipments up to the present time total 91,947 cars, and it is estimated that all but ten per cent of the 1923 crop has been moved.

The total grain shipments off of the division for last year were 18,114 cars, almost double that of this year. The general traffic over the division is about the same as that of last year.

GRAND JURY IN CAPITAL VOTES AN INDICTMENT

Lessee of Teapot Dome, Who Refused to Testify, Must Answer in Federal Court

ATTACK ON ROOSEVELT

Democrats Open Determined Drive to Force Assistant Secretary Out of Job

Washington, Mar. 31.—Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, was indicted by a Federal Grand Jury here today on contempt charges growing out of his refusal to testify before the Senate Oil Committee.

ATTACKS ROOSEVELT

Washington, Mar. 31.—Demand for removal from office of Theodore Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the Navy, was renewed in the Senate today by Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington.

Senator Dill said he expected to press his resolution at the earliest opportunity.

Recently Mr. Roosevelt was severely criticized before the oil committee by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, and several Democratic senators have declared on the Senate floor that the assistant secretary's close relationship with former Secretary Denby should have impelled him to retire with Denby.

Washington, Mar. 31.—A resolution demanding the resignation of Theodore Roosevelt, Secretary of the Navy, because of his connection with the oil leasing program, was drawn up today by Senator Dill, of Washington.

Washington, Mar. 31.—The grand jury considering the contempt case of Harry F. Sinclair expires today, but the government's law officers were confident it would be able to take action before passing off of existence. The case, growing out of the oil committee, was presented to the grand jury and witnesses heard before it adjourned Friday over the week end.

The oil committee was in recess today, having put off until tomorrow its plan for delving further into the financing of the $600,000 deficit incurred by the Republican national committee in the 1920 campaign.

CAN'T FIND THOMPSON
Washington, Mar. 31.—Failure of subpoena servers to locate William Boyce Thompson, former chairman of the Republican national finance committee, was reported to the Senate oil committee today by the senate sergeant-at-arms.

DAUGHERTY'S PROBERS WILL KEEP GOING

Intend to Hold Gaston Means in Spite of Federal Grand Jury Indictment

Washington, Mar. 31.—The Senate Daugherty investigation committee decided today to continue its inquiry in spite of Mr. Daugherty's retirement to private life.

The members announced they tend to hold Gaston B. Means, former department of justice investigator, in attendance under a steady subpoena in spite of the issuance today of the warrant by the Federal Court at New York ordering Means's return there to answer charges of conspiracy.

The committee's immediate objective when it resumes hearings tomorrow will be to clear up the facts with regard to the department of justice's prosecution of war fraud and anti-trust cases. A decision on the motion before the committee to have Mal S. Daugherty, brother of the Attorney-General, cited before the Senators for contempt was postponed.

At the noon hearing tomorrow the committee will replace on the witness stand H. L. Scufie, former investigator for the government in ward fraud cases.

Atlantic City, N. J., Mar. 31.—H. M. Daugherty who has been here on a vacation since he resigned, expects to leave here today for Washington where he says he has "quite a few things to look after."

He asserted last night he was still the "supporter" of President Coolidge and that he had not thought of withdrawing as delegate-at-large to the Republican national convention.

He said he was "feeling fine," and that he would take care of himself, "until the whole truth comes out and vindicates me."

KIWANIANS IN SESSION BACK UP BOYS' WORK

Club, in Business Session at Luncheon Meeting, Takes Unanimous Action

MANDAN BUNCH COMING

Inter-City Club Program to Attract More Than 100 Kiwanians Next Week

Members of the Kiwanis club, at their weekly luncheon at the McKenzie hotel today, voted to cooperate with other organizations in endorsing the continuance of the boys' work in the city, and to participate as individuals in the community in the necessary steps for the continuance of the program. The matter was discussed by members, who were unanimous in their support of the program. The club is in the formative stage, its full portent was not revealed to the public. The club elected Secretary E. A. Thorberg and Worth Lundy as delegate to the Kiwanis International convention to be held in Denver in June, and named Spencer Boice and Dr. C. E. Stackhouse as alternates. There was an even race in the automobile race in the attendance contest. There was a 100 percent attendance of members of the club, the announcement being greeted by the members with cheers. One member left an important business conference in order to make the unusual record for a business men's organization. In an all-club program, the members heard details of certain work undertaken by the club's assistance, the nature of which was not revealed.

George Russ divulged secrets in the life of Dr. N. O. Rasmussen in giving his birthday congratulatory talk, and assured the members that Dr. Rasmussen's removal from Wisconsin was quite voluntary. Wm. S. Neal, chairman of the day, won the attendance prize gift drawn by lot, George Russ being the donor. President L. E. Birdzell announced that Jack Runyan would represent the club on the inter-city rehabilitation committee to aid disabled soldiers returning from new vocations, to obtain employment. It was announced that next week the Mandan Kiwanis club will come to Bismarck for an inter-club day, the luncheon to be held in the main dining room of the McKenzie hotel, at 12:15 p. m. It is expected that more than 100 Kiwanians of the two cities will be present for the program. Plans also were made by the club for numerous activities during the month of April.

TWO BANKERS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Irregularities in Crookston Bank

Crookston, Minn., Mar. 31.—C. E. Gilderleeve and H. O. Anderson, assistant cashier and bookkeeper, respectively, of the Merchants National Bank here which closed March 15, today were given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Alexander Fosmark following their arrest yesterday on a charge of embezzlement and were held in the federal grand jury which meets atergus Falls May 6th. Gilderleeve's bail was fixed at $10,000 and Anderson's at $5,000, which was furnished by both men. The alleged embezzlement was discovered by H. Goodheart, national bank examiner, in charge of the closed bank, who declares the shortage will amount to between $15,000 and $20,000. Their alleged manipulations, Mr. Goodheart declared, are in no way responsible for the bank's failure. Rather, he said, the failure of the bank brought to light the juggling of accounts which had been going on for several years.

HAGEN HELD TO BE GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict Against Former Bank Head

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—"Guilty as charged in the indictment" was the verdict returned at 12:05 o'clock Saturday night by the jury which tried H. J. Hagen, former president of the Scandinavian American bank of Fargo for "knowingly permitting, conniving at, and being accessory to the receiving of money on deposit in an insolvent bank." The jury retired about 4 p. m. Hagen showed no emotion as M. W. Staehling, clerk of court, read the verdict. Except for the attorneys, court officials and a few of Hagen's friends, several of whom are also facing trial in connection with the alleged wrecking of the Fargo bank, the court room was empty. The penalty provided by law for the offense of which Hagen has been convicted is a fine of not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not to exceed five years or both fine and imprisonment.

POINCARE IS LOSING OUT?

Indications Are His Support Has Weakened

Paris, France, (by the AP) Mar. 31.—Indications that Premier Poincaré had lost many evidences of support were seen in the Chamber of Deputies today on the occasion of his plea for his re-constituted cabinet. He reaffirmed all the policies of the late government and said French soldiers would remain in the Ruhr until France was paid.

GERMANS LIKE PARIS Paris, March 31. Germans are coming in greater numbers than ever to France. German fashion experts were noticed for the first time since the war at the recent Autouil races. At a single Paris hotel 350 German salesmen are registered.

CHARGES MUCH MONEY USED IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Senator Norbeck Assails Coolidge Forces for Conduct of Campaign

Chicago, March 31. Charges that there was much more lawlessness in the Coolidge campaign than during the Lowden campaign in that state in 1920, when it resulted in a Senate inquiry into campaign funds were made today in a telegram from U. S. Senator Peter Norbeck, leader in the Johnson campaign. Senator Norbeck, pledged to the Johnson candidacy, was elected as a delegate to the national convention in the primary last week. A telegram regarding the denial of M. Williams, national director of the Coolidge forces, that excessive amounts were spent in South Dakota was made dated March 29th. "The statement of the Coolidge management as to their expenses in S. D. is untrue in many respects. They spent about $15,000 in advertising alone, during the last week, misrepresenting Johnson's record. Johnson only spent $300 in advertising."

"Paid workers were much in evidence on the street corners and around villages and towns. "A daily newspaper was established in the State capital to champion the Coolidge call."

"They maintain elaborate headquarters under the direction of Federal employees. Expensive offices and organization forces were maintained in towns and cities."

"There was more evidence of lawlessness in the Coolidge campaign than in the Lowden campaign in 1920. I believe the expenses averaged $3.00 for every vote they received."

"In addition, outside corporations ran thousands of lines of advertising in every paper in the state, including the smallest weekly, for three weeks preceding the election, the avowed purpose of which was to break down the progressive forces."

OUTBREAK IN STOCK IS NOT FEARED IN N. D.

Officials, However, Take Precautions Against Hoof, Mouth Disease

MANY CATTLE TESTED

Members of the State Livestock Sanitary Board do not anticipate that the epidemic of hoof and mouth disease in California will spread to North Dakota, but they are prepared to adopt drastic measures should they be necessary. Hoof and mouth disease quarantines have been established by the state of California and federal government, and all cattle, sheep, goats and swine on farms where the disease develops are immediately slaughtered and buried, according to Dr. W. F. Crewe, secretary of the board. Although it is not anticipated that the disease will spread, all state authorities are keeping in close touch with the situation and every precaution possible is being taken to prevent further outbreaks, he added.

Cattle came through the winter in fine shape, Dr. Crewe said after a meeting of the Livestock Sanitary Board here at which President L. J. Foster, Bathurst, Ross R. Martin, Power, Lake, Dr. D. F. Seed, Minor and Dr. J. W. Robinson, Garrison, and also Dr. A. F. Schalk of the Agricultural College, were present.

The report of Dr. Crewe showed a marked increase in the number of cattle being tuberculin tested. During November 14, 636 cattle were tested, 87 reacting. During December 21, 107 cattle were tested, 34 reacting and the number increased in January and February, a total of 123,574 cattle being tested since July 1, 1924 being found infected with tuberculosis.

Demand Too Great

It is found that much greater advancement is being made under the circumscribed area plan, Dr. Crewe said. Under this plan cattle are tested by townships and counties. All the cattle in one county have been tested, and all the cattle in 204 townships have been tested. It is expected that in a short time testing of all cattle in five more counties will have been completed. Excellent cooperation is given by the stock owners, township and county officers, Dr. Crewe reported.

Demands for testing service has grown so large that the funds and organization are insufficient to permit of prompt service. There is also an increased desire on the part of her owners to find out if herds are free from tuberculosis. Little loss of cattle from disease or otherwise was reported during the winter, cattle coming through in fine shape.

The report of Dr. Crewe showed that 112 horses were condemned and destroyed for glanders since July 1, 1923.

ECONOMY IN SCHOOLS URGED

Letter Sent by State Department to City Superintendents

Suggestions for methods of effecting economy in the schools are asked by State Superintendent Minnie J. Nielson in a circular letter to city superintendents of schools in the state, in which Miss Nielson also asks that "Jefferson Week" be observed in the schools and asks promptness in supplying information to aid the teachers' certification department.

"Are this you are doubtless aware of the fact that the petitions for the Gundersen Measure were not filed due to the fact that they lacked a thousand signatures, so the bill will not be voted upon in the June primaries," says Miss Nielson. "If the measure had become a law, many school districts would have been seriously crippled. Now that that danger is over some constructive work can be done in eliminating waste and thus saving expenditures. We know that school boards and superintendents are carefully studying the problem of finance, and are doing much to reduce expenses and maintain efficiency. In many of the small schools they plan to eliminate many electives and thus reduce the number of teachers and classes. We are working now on curricula for high schools with a limited number of teachers. Some of you who receive this letter will find it impossible to reduce your classes, others can. We will be glad therefore to learn of ways in which you have reduced expenses without reducing the efficiency of your school."

Miss Nielson, Deputy State Superintendent, C. L. Robertson and inspectors are meeting local boards with a view of rearranging curricula to meet local conditions and effect reductions in expenses, Miss Nielson said.

Observation of "Jefferson Week," April 13-19, is asked in the schools by the state superintendent.

Tag Offenders Of Incorrect Speech

Charlesburg, W. Va., March 31.—The English classes of the Washington Irving High School recently conducted a campaign known as "Better Speech Week," to improve the grammar used by the student body. Everybody watched everybody and those who were careless enough to let slip "I seen," "don't know nothing," or any other offense against good grammar were hastily decorated with red, blue or yellow tags. Sponsors of the movement announced a hurry call for more tags before the week was half over.

AT THE MOVIES

THE ELTINGE
"In the Palace of the King" from F. Marion Crawford's novel is the feature at the Eltinge theatre today and tomorrow, Monday and Tuesday. The cast is one of the most notable of the season, including such prominent and popular screen players as Blanche Sweet as the heroine, Edmund Lowe as her princely lover, Sam de Grasse as King Philip, Herbert Rosworth as the girl's father, Pauline Starke, Allen Tringle, Ema Gregory, William V. Mong, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Clay and many others. The play has been pronounced on a magnificent and costly scale. It involved the building of a palace set 280 feet high and 300 feet long, one of the biggest ever built for a motion picture. The costumes, the interior settings and all of the appearances are historically correct.

CAPITOL

One of the most exquisite love scenes ever filmed is part of "The Barefoot Boy," a screen version of John Greenleaf Whittier's immortal poem, glorifying the country lad, coming to the Capitol Theatre tonight and tomorrow.

"The Barefoot Boy" grown up is just as clean and fine and wholesome as the "barefoot boy" of ten. And the girl loved him with a devotion seldom equalled. But "The Barefoot Boy" in his humiliation at an imagined wrong, does not believe himself worthy of the love of so fine a girl, and decides to give her up. Whether she permits this sacrifice, and what the ultimate outcome of their love leads to is one of the high spots of this tender love drama. John Bowers as "the barefoot boy" grown up, and Marjorie Daw as the girl, are perfectly cast.

DR. SHORTRIDGE BOUND OVER

Dr. W. R. Shortridge, Flasher doctor, was arraigned just before noon today on a charge of second degree murder, in connection with the death of Mrs. Angelo Holta of this city and was bound over to District Court.

Attorney J. F. Sullivan, who was retained to defend him, pulled out of the case and Attorney T. F. Murtha of Dickinson will defend him.

CHILD KILLED IN GUN FIGHT

Boonville, Ark., Mar. 31.—One child was killed and three other children and two men were wounded in a battle staged by the family of Sam McCasoon and Geary Van Allen, on a highway in Lick Creek, seven miles southwest of Boonville yesterday.

"BAT" KRAUSE TAKES LAY-OFF

"Bat" Krause, Fargo pugilist, formerly of Bismarck, was here over Sunday. "Bat," who has been going steadily for sometime, may take a lay-off for a month or so, he said, but declared he did not expect to retire from the ring. He has bought into a pool hall and rooming house business there, but his lay off will be occasioned by some differences with Manager Hurley.

Lions Plan For Ladies Night

Members of the Lions club, at noon luncheon today, discussed plans for the entertainment of Walter H. Masack of Lidgerwood, secretary of the fifty-sixth district of Lions International Association, here on April 7. The regular Monday noon luncheon will be postponed for a 6:15 p. m. dinner at which Mr. Masack will be guest of honor. Following the dinner there will be a progressive whist and bridge party, the Lions members inviting the ladies in for the evening.

There was a good attendance at the club meeting today. A round table discussion of various problems was held.

Dr. Boutelle Leaves For South Dakota

Dr. Louisa E. Boutelle, division of child hygiene and public health nursing of the State Health Department has tendered her resignation and leaves for Pierre, S. D., where she has accepted a similar position. The work in South Dakota will be much larger than in this state, Miss Boutelle said. Miss Edith Olson, R. N., state supervisor of public health nursing will accompany Dr. Boutelle and accept a like position with the South Dakota State Health Department.

Dr. Boutelle's office was created by the enactment of the Shepherd-Towner Act and four counties of the state were selected for intensive work during her term of office. Her successor has not been named.

Dr. L. W. Larson Locates Here

Dr. L. W. Larson of Minneapolis has come to Bismarck to succeed Dr. Reudiger as pathologist, associated with the Quain and Ramstad clinic, and in charge of laboratory work at the Bismarck hospital. Dr. Larson recently has been taking advanced work at the University of Minnesota.

Church Against Women Ministers

Stockholm, March 31.—The government committee appointed to investigate the demand of Swedish feminists that women be allowed in the Swedish State Church on an equal footing with men has reported in favor of the women. The committee, however, recommended a careful selection and gradual admission and, at first, to those clerical posts which would benefit most from the kind of service for which women are peculiarly fitted.

Opinions of chapters all over Sweden have been requested by the government. While all the chapters emphasize the great value of women in Christian and parochial work in general and urge further utilization of their services, virtually all voiced strong objection to the admission of women to the pulpit.

HISTORY OF FOSTER CO. TO BE PRESENTED

Pageant Is Planned by County as Part of Annual Play Day Events

Carrington, N. D., March 31.—A pageant of the history of Foster county, given in five episodes by groups of school children, a chorus of five hundred adults and children and a huge brass band will be the original features of Foster county's 1924 play day program at Bordulac, May 20, according to an announcement made by Mary K. Beatty, county superintendent of schools.

Largely through the efforts of A. G. Arnold, nationally known promoter of the Little Country Theater movement and a member of the Fargo Agricultural college faculty who addressed the meeting of the principals of the county schools at the office of the superintendent Thursday, the county historical pageant was developed. Folk dancing, band music and choruses will be a part of the pageant.

WHO BOUGHT STICKERS?

The controversy who paid for the LaFollette sticker campaign continues to rage among some parties. R. S. Wilcox, who was publicity manager for the Johnson campaign, charged that Coolidge money paid for the stickers. F. A. Vogel, head of the sticker campaign organization, retorted that it was a lie and made public an expense statement showing a deficit and saying he, John Bloom and Roy Frazier guaranteed payment. The Williams County Farmers Press, Nonpartisan, insists that a full statement should be made, intimating their belief that it was not LaFollette men who paid for the campaign.

PASTOR BACK IN PULPIT

Rev. Postlethwaite Greeted By Large Congregation

Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, returned to his pulpit Sunday morning for the first time in many months and was greeted by an unusually large congregation. Stricken ill last May, Rev. Postlethwaite has made a hard fight back to health, and members of his congregation were pleased to find him looking exceedingly well although not fully recovered. The pastor, speaking on "Fundamentals of Christianity," spoke upon the theme, "We are all partakers in the sufferings of Christ," and in a brief sermon brought home to his auditors the message that charity and sympathy were necessary attributes of a Christian life.

Rev. Postlethwaite has resumed all of the activities in connection with his pastorate. He has recently assisted in the services, but yesterday was his first sermon in many months.

TELLS ATTITUDE ON RATE PLEAS

To clear up any misunderstanding that might have resulted from the explanation of the position of Jamestown and Valley City in rate cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission, John Thorpe, first assistant Attorney-General, today made the following statement:

"From an article appearing in the Bismarck Tribune on the 27th inst. it might be concluded that the representatives of Jamestown and Valley City before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the 17th of March, 1924, participated in the Fargo rate case in support of the report of the examiner. There were two hearings, one known as the Fargo rate case and the other as the Jamestown and Valley City case. These were different, but as certain parts of the complaint in each case were similar, the two cases were heard by the Commission and the Examiner at the same time so that they could be disposed of by one report and one decision. The Jamestown and Valley City representatives filed their brief in the Jamestown-Valley City case, and did not appear in support of the report in the Fargo rate case."

PASTOR BACK IN PULPIT

Rev. Postlethwaite Greeted By Large Congregation

Rev. H. C. Postlethwaite, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, returned to his pulpit Sunday morning for the first time in many months and was greeted by an unusually large congregation. Stricken ill last May, Rev. Postlethwaite has made a hard fight back to health, and members of his congregation were pleased to find him looking exceedingly well although not fully recovered. The pastor, speaking on "Fundamentals of Christianity," spoke upon the theme, "We are all partakers in the sufferings of Christ," and in a brief sermon brought home to his auditors the message that charity and sympathy were necessary attributes of a Christian life.

Rev. Postlethwaite has resumed all of the activities in connection with his pastorate. He has recently assisted in the services, but yesterday was his first sermon in many months.

TELLS ATTITUDE ON RATE PLEAS

To clear up any misunderstanding that might have resulted from the explanation of the position of Jamestown and Valley City in rate cases before the Interstate Commerce Commission, John Thorpe, first assistant attorney general, today made the following statement:

"From an article appearing in the Bismarck Tribune on the 25th inst. it might be concluded that the representatives of Jamestown and Valley City before the Interstate Commerce Commission on the 17th of March, 1924, participated in the Fair rate case in support of the report of the examiner. There were two hearings, one known as the Fair rate case and the other as the Jamestown and Valley City case. These were different, but as certain parts of the complaint in each case were similar, the two cases were heard by the Commission and the Examiner at the same time so that they could be disposed of by one report and decision. The Jamestown and Valley City representatives filed their brief in the Jamestown-Valley City case, and did not appear in support of the report in the Fargo rate case."

MR. DAUGHERTY'S REPLY

A sigh of relief generally would have been felt had Harry M. Daugherty resigned several weeks ago as Attorney-General of the United States. It would have been much better had Mr. Daugherty, who was named in the Cabinet chiefly because he was a long-time political associate of the late President Harding, stepped out when Mr. Coolidge became President. It was characteristic of the fairness of President Coolidge that he should continue the policies inaugurated by Mr. Harding because the latter had been elected President, and to continue his appointees in office. It is quite evident from a study of the "Coolidge mind" that it would be reprehensible to him for one to be elevated to the Presidency by accident of death and adopt policies in conflict with those the voters had approved, or overturn the things the elected President had done.

New situations, of course, alter the course of any official, no matter how he was elevated to office. Mr. Coolidge showed commendable courage, if foregoing political advantage, in continuing Mr. Daugherty while the latter was being condemned but not proven guilty. But when a situation arose wherein Mr. Daugherty as a public officer could not perform the duties prescribed by his office by the Constitution and the laws, it was manifest that Mr. Daugherty should go, no matter what injury might be done to him personally. For it is and should be an inexorable law of public service that duty to the public is paramount to the welfare of the individual charged with that duty. It would have been inexcusable if the President had endeavored to sit in a judicial capacity and brand Mr. Daugherty guilty; it would have been equally unfortunate had he allowed sympathy for the accused official to transcend the plain duty of his official position.

Mr. Daugherty has gone and the country will be glad. Nor will Mr. Daugherty's answer invoke public sympathy. The Attorney-General argues that he could continue as Attorney-General and at the same time render advice to the President and conduct his department without conflict because of the investigation. The President's argument is convincing; Mr. Daugherty's plea is not.

There is much with regard to the Attorney-General's attack on the character of evidence permitted to be adduced before the Senate committee with which the fair-minded public will agree. It is possible, as the Attorney-General claims; that enemies he has made in the discharge of his duties as Attorney-General are behind the effort to drive him from public office and besmirch his character. Mr. Daugherty will have ample time in private life to conduct his defense.

COVERED WAGONS OF THE AIR

On the outside of the envelope was written: "To be opened only after my death." This had been penned and sealed by Captain Hyde-Pearson, World War flier and air mail pilot. Death came to him when his plane crashed among the Pennsylvania hills while carrying mail from New York westward.

This was the message he left inside the envelope: "To my beloved brother pilots and pals—I go west, but with a cheerful heart. I hope what small sacrifice I have made may be of use to the cause. When we fly, we are damned fools, they say. When we are dead, we weren't half bad fellows. But everyone in this wonderful aviation service is doing the world far more good than the public can appreciate. We risk our necks; we give our lives; we perfect a service for the benefit of the world at large. They, mind you, are the ones who call us fools. But stick to it, boys. I'm still very much with you all. See you all again."

This brave flying captain was as surely a pioneer and explorer as the courageous Americans who, only a few generations ago, went into the unknown west on horseback or in covered wagons.

The men who fly are developing a great new transformation service. They have the prophetic vision to realize the future of aviation. Willingly they gamble their lives. A thoughtless public may imagine the fliers risk their necks for the sheer adventure and thrill of flight. Truth is, they are as serious about their work as the mounted scouts who invaded our western plains at the head of millions of settlers to follow.

Flying is a serious business, not a circus performance. This much we learn from the life and last message of Captain Hyde-Pearson.

The captain quite evidently had a premonition of death. It is not the custom of men, unless they have such premonitions, to leave envelopes marked: "To be opened only after my death."

Many will wonder what he meant by his closing lines: "Stick to it, boys. I'm still very much with you all. See you all again."

In those lines is the firm belief that death is only a change—a farewell flight into unknown but better regions. Hail and farewell, brave Captain Hyde-Pearson, as you fly westward into the sunset.

SEX

Nothing is impossible to a superscientist. Prof. Harms, the German, has been experimenting. He predicts "sex transformation"—for instance, changing roosters into hens to increase the supply of eggs. Interesting possibilities for parents who order a boy and get a girl. But Prof. Harms doesn't promise that much.

What a pity, that brains possibly capable of changing roosters into hens are not applied to simpler and more useful services to humanity. Genius has a passion for the impossible. If it were practical, though, it wouldn't be genius.

The army may name its planes after cities. This is better than the present plan of naming them after radio stations.

CONVINCING FIGURES

Recently we published some figures submitted by Martin G. Schmidt as to the money made by cream producers. This week Mr. Schmidt has compiled some interesting data along the same line, which we publish herewith:
In 1921 there was $53,397.85 paid out for cream in Linton. In 1922 there was a light decrease on account of the hard winter, and the farmers losing about half of their cows, and only $46,812.15 worth of cream sold. But in 1923 there was a big increase and $77,401.89 worth of cream was sold. In 1924, the first two months' sales are excellent. For January and February, 1923, the sales of cream amounted to $2,015.40. For the year 1924, for January and February, the sales are $3,725.50 almost 50% increase.
Certainly these figures tell a story that is worth reading by those who have gone broke trying to raise wheat.—Emmons County Record.

SOUTH DAKOTA

Returns from South Dakota struggle in slowly. Hiram Johnson's trumpeters are confident that the rural precincts will overcome Mr. Coolidge's early lead. Perhaps they are right; but they were equally confident about the result of the North Dakota primaries. In any case, Mr. Coolidge, without the advantage he had in North Dakota of a divided opposition, has made a remarkable run. It is really a triumph for him and not for Johnson, even if the latter wins. The Republican machine was behind the Californian. The great Progressive is borne along by the "organization." Governor McMeister, Senator Nodder, the three Republican Representatives, were banded together. The Republican registration was small; and the machine may be supposed to have the best of it.

Last Fall hardly anybody expected that Mr. Coolidge could carry the State Proposal Convention, as he did in December. Relief for the farmers was then the main issue. The President has done all in his power for that purpose. Much was made of the oil scandals later, but the campaign was won. Mr. McMeister, who seems to have been Senator Sterling, needed no oil scandals. The man who reduced the price of gasoline from 26.6 to 16 cents must have been a very clever voter of a Ford. It is surprising that he didn't run even farther ahead of Sterling and Johnson than he seems to have done. Mr. Johnson made a lot of speeches. In January he was roaring against the Administration's policy of selling arms to the Oregon Government. He is not a cautious statesman, except in the matter of tariff rates on California products, but he shrewdly espoused the particular schemes of agricultural relief dear to the South Dakota Congressmen.

"He is the soul, and all his 'angels' and managers set theirs, on carrying South Dakota. Elsewhere he was making no visible progress with all his motion and emotion. If he succeeds in winning the election, the friends of the 'under dog' will only be gripped that he couldn't do so on the strength of his shining merits; that the haughty independence and former boss had to be yoked to the man. Even the friends of the 'under dog' almost feel some one ought to break in the set of Johnson's gloom."

The economic causes of irritation and dissatisfaction in South Dakota are familiar. There, if anywhere, the friends of the 'under dog' might look for an eager welcome. There, too, the fly-brothers who had been as strong as proofs of Holy Writ ought to be common. But just there, in the face of various difficulties of peculiar local moment and at the height, perhaps, of the flood of political sensation and scandal, Mr. Coolidge has polled an extraordinary vote against a political combination of extraordinary strength. His steadiness, his integrity, the solidity of his character, the quiet courage with which he stands by the taxpayer in spite of all the froth and flourish of noisy politicians, have produced their effect in South Dakota, even in circumstances most unfavorable and a public temper ill-disposed to sober reasoning.—New York Times.

ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Come along and see Hinky Dink!" said Mister Fuzz Wuzz to the Twins. So away they all skipped through Doofany Land till they came to the place Hinky Dink lived.

There he was sitting on his front porch, nodding his head pleasantly up and down, up and down, as if he was saying "Every thing is all right—the world is a fine place."

"Hello, Hinky," called the little pipe-cleaner man.

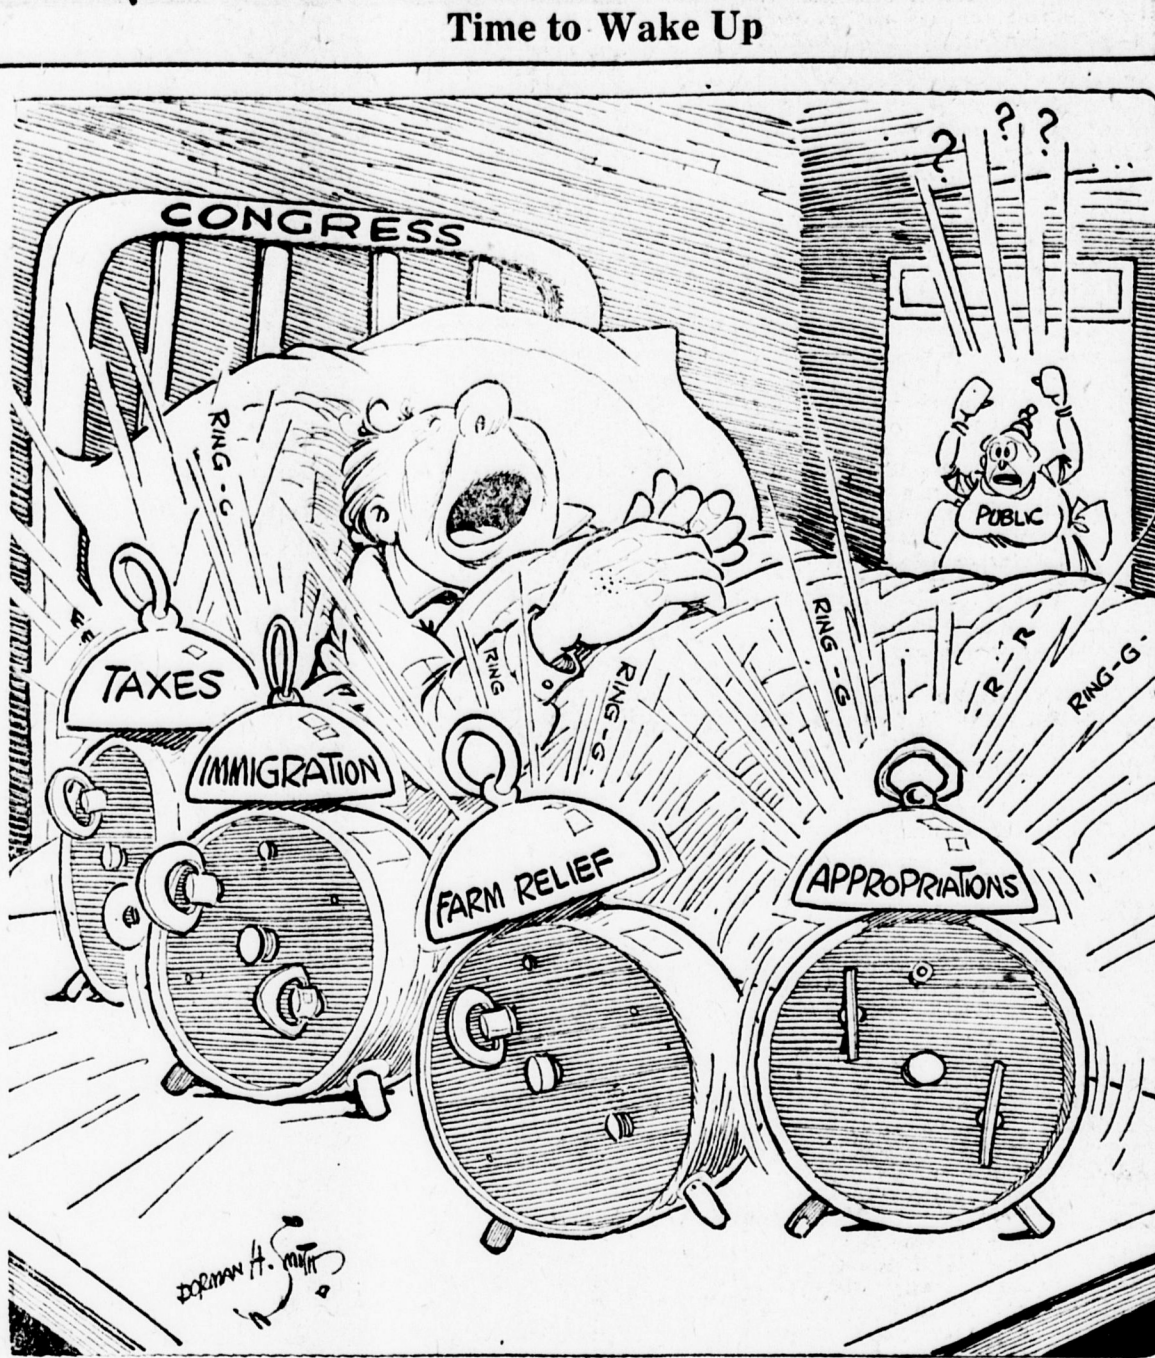

"Why, hello, Fuzzy," answered the other pleasantly, but not stopping his nodding for a minute. "And who are your friends?"

"Nancy and Nick, the Twins," nodded Hinky Dink. "It's the only story I know. It's about me, and it's sad."

"Oh, come now, Hinky, you certainly don't look sad," declared his visitors. "Won't you tell us?"

"With pleasure," smiled Hinky Dink. "I hope my nodding doesn't make you nervous."

One day I was sitting in a store with my hundred brothers, when a lady came in and said she wanted

TEAPOT DOME RECORD IS WRITTEN

The spring building boom is on, and cornerstones are being laid, every one of which contains data to surprise people when it is opened up a hundred or so years from now.

A record of the Teapot Dome affair should be included, and should read about like this:

"Shortly after the World War experts predicted the next war would be in the air. Then came the Teapot Dome war and proved their deductions more than correct."

"Statistics gathered from the March, 1924, headlines in the papers showed everybody in the United States had threatened to resign. 'Oil was knee-deep in Washington,' due to the fact that every time a senator was tapped he became a gusher."

"By the end of 1924 all Washington residents had grown web feet, and their skins were very valuable to furriers, the oil making them slick and glossy."

"The Teapot Dome war ended Christmas Day of the year in which it started."

He had always felt that the imagination, what is called for want of a better term, the "creative faculty," was there, but it was lethargic; it sometimes roused itself to spurts and flashes during wakeful nights, but slept like a boar-constrictor that had swallowed a pig when he tried to invoke it. No doubt, as Gora had told him, his life had been too easy and agreeable; he made a good deal of money with no particular effort, he was a favorite with the cleverest men and women in New York, and he had no one to think of but himself. His mother was dead and his sisters married. And there was no doubt that if you were on top, a personality, New York was the most enchanting place in the world to live in, just as it must be the most unsatisfactory for the poor and insignificant. To have conquered New York meant more—several thousand times more—than conquering all the rest of the United States put together, with New York left out. Moreover, it was the only place where you could have any real fun, if you wanted your fun with the sort of men who drifted to New York from all parts of the nation as naturally as pilgrims went to Mecca. If it was your fate to be a politician, Washington, of course, was the goal, but that, in his opinion, was merely moving from a little small-town to a big one, and he thanked his stars he did not have to live in a place where there was nothing but politics and society. In New York you had only to help yourself to any phase of life you wanted.

Mary smiled as she remembered the contemptuous remark of another New York convert: "Is Washington merely an island outside of New York?" and she felt wondering why New York would have been like it if it had not been fed so persistently by those streams of eager and ambitious brains debouching into it from every part of a by no means unambitious and negligible commonwealth. Another island, probably. Certainly it was the most exhilarating place in the world today, with its atmosphere of invincible security and prosperity, its surging tides of life. No wonder it was impossible for the intensive New Yorker to realize that four thousand miles away a greater world was falling to ruin.

She told him something of the old political life of Vienna, continually agitated by some Balkan question, of the general dislike of the "Habs" whose violent death at Sarajevo had been the death knell of European peace; apprehensions of the day when he should ascend the throne, for he was intensely clerical and reactionary. If he had survived until the old Emperor's death, and there had been no war, it was doubtful if there would not have been a "palace revolution" within six months of his succession.

It was also possible that the people would have had their revolution, for they were becoming enlightened and discontented. The great men in the highest offices of the Government were in sympathy with them.

"I suppose you mean this Prince Hohenhauser for one," said Clavering.

"Hohenhauser believed that every throne in Europe would be overturned before the middle of the twentieth century, and that it was the part of wise leaders to prepare not only themselves but the people for a republican form of government. He had the greatest admiration for the principles on which this republic was founded, and said that Europe was to be congratulated that we had made the mistakes for her to avoid. Much as the rest of the world congratulated itself that Bolshevism was tried out in Russia and made a ghastly mess of improving the condition of the underdog before the masses in other countries had time to lose their heads. I've no doubt that he will be the next Chancellor of Austria, and that when he gets the reins of power in his hands, he'll keep a firm hold on them, which is more than any one else has done."

"What do you suppose has brought him to this country?"

"I fancy he has come to obtain the moral support of the American Government in whatever plan he may have made for putting Austria on her feet again."

"Have you any idea of what that plan may be?" Clavering was watching her intently, his ear attuned to every inflection of her voice. But her tones were as impersonal as if reciting a page out of ancient history, and her gaze was frank and direct.

"I can only guess. Personally I should think his present plan would be an alliance with Bavaria and other South German States—a South German Confederacy. That would make a powerful combination, and as Bavaria has always hated Prussia, she would be the last to lend herself to any schemes of vengeance the north may cherish—particularly if she remains a republic. And, of course, she would assume her share of the Allied debt. . . . It would be a wonderful thing if it could be brought off. Vienna—her eyes sparkled—"Vienna, of course, would be the capital—and again one of the great capitals of Europe. Perhaps the greatest."

"Were you ever closely associated with Hohenhauser in any of his schemes?"

"He had no immediate schemes then. He only awaited events. While the old Emperor lived no move was possible; he was most logically adored by his people. But Hohenhauser told me more than once that he was only biding his time."

"And what of that preposterous estate of his in the old Galicia—sixteen million acres, wasn't it? Did he expect to hang on to that under a popular form of government?"

"He would have retained the castle and a few hundred acres, for he naturally had a great affection for his birthplace; and divided the rest among the people, whose natural inheritance it was. But he could do nothing until the proper time, for such an act would undoubtedly have resulted in confiscation and banishment. He would have accomplished no good, and lost his immediate power for usefulness besides. Like all those old-world statesmen, he knows how to play a waiting game."

"Sounds like a great man—if there are any such."

"I should certainly call him a great man," said Mary, but still with that note of complete personal indifference in her voice. "He not only has immense brain power and personality, but fairness and a thorough understanding of the people, and sympathy with them. Even the Social Democrats liked and trusted him. And he has more than the ordinary politician's astuteness in trimming his sails; but coming out, nevertheless, at the end of the course exactly at the point he had aimed for. If he captures the bridge, to change the simile, he'll steer Austria out of her deep waters. No doubt of that."

"Exactly what was the part you intended to play in Austria?" he asked. "You have never told me."

"I thought we were not to talk of that. It is impossible to make deliberate plans, anyhow. Only, there is a part for any one who loves the country and has the brains and the will and the potential knowledge to help her."

"I have never quite understood why it should be Austria. Why not Hungary? After all—"

"I never cared for anything in Hungary, but the castle, which was wonderfully situated in the mountains of Transylvania. The surroundings were wild beyond description and the peasants the most picturesque and interesting in Europe. But even if Buda Pesth had appealed to me socially, which it never did, there were deeper personal reasons that made me dislike Hungary—I never spent a night in the Zlatian palace until I turned it into a hospital. But Vienna! I always lived in Vienna when I could, even during my first years in Europe, and later I made it my home. It is the most fascinating city, to me at least, in the world. Besides, Hungary is in the hands of Horthy and Bethlen, who have no more idea of making a republic of it than of permitting any one else to be king. There is no role for—"

"Hullo! Hullo! Hullo!" Clavering sprang to his feet. "Shall we take the bull by the horns and go to meet them?" he asked. "Poor devils! They'll hate us for looking so fresh."

LI

They were forced to submit to a vast amount of good-natured chaffing, for they had invited it, but it was the sort of chaffing with which this amiable company would have victimized any pair that had recently met, and found each other's society suddenly preferable to that of the crowd.

They were all very tired. Mr. Dinwiddie, after refreshing himself with a glass of beer, went to his room and to bed. Rollo Todd announced that it was time to go back to New York to rest, and all fell down on the divans or floor for half an hour before going up to revive themselves with a hot and cold shower.

But fatigue passes away quickly in the mountains. They were as lively as ever the next morning, although they unanimously elected to spend the day on the lake or in the woods.

OUTBREAK IN STOCK IS NOT FEARED IN N. D.

Officials, However, Take Precautions Against Hoof, Mouth Disease

MANY CATTLE TESTED

Members of the State Livestock Sanitary Board do not anticipate that the spread of hoof and mouth disease in California will spread to North Dakota, but they are prepared to meet any outbreak that may occur. Hoof and mouth disease outbreaks have been reported in the state of California and in other states, and all cattle where the disease occurs are immediately slaughtered and burned, according to Dr. W. F. Crowe, secretary of the board. Although it is not anticipated that the disease will spread to North Dakota, the board is keeping in close touch with the state of California and is being taken by the board to prevent outbreaks, he added.

Cattle sent through the market in fine shape, Dr. Crowe said after a visit to the Livestock Sanitary Board here at which President L. J. Foster, Butte, Dr. R. M. Martin, Bismarck, Dr. D. F. Seed, Mandan, and Dr. J. W. Robinson, Grand Forks, also Dr. A. B. Smith of the Agricultural Experiment Station, were present. The board of Dr. Crowe showed a marked interest in the matter of a cattle being tested in the state of California, he said. During the week of March 21, 1924, cattle were tested in the state of California, and the number of cattle tested in the state of California was 12,541 cattle being tested since July 1, 1923, being found infected with the disease.

Demand Too Great

It is found that more greater advancement is being made under the plan described in the plan, Dr. Crowe said. Under this plan cattle are tested by townships and counties. All the cattle in one county have been tested, and all the cattle in 20 townships have been tested. It is expected that in a short time testing of all cattle in five more counties will have been completed. Excellent cooperation is given by the stock owners, township and county officers, Dr. Crowe reported.

Demand for testing service has grown so large that the funds and organization are insufficient to meet the demand. There is also an increased demand on the part of the owners to find out if their cattle are free from the disease. Little loss of cattle from disease of other kind was reported during the winter, cattle coming through in fine shape.

The report of Dr. Crowe showed that 112 horses were condemned and destroyed for glanders since July 1, 1923.

ECONOMY IN SCHOOLS URGED

Letter Sent by State Superintendent to City Superintendents

Suggestions for methods of effecting economy in the schools are asked of city superintendents by a letter from the state superintendent, Minnesota. The letter is a circular letter to city superintendents of schools in the state, in which, Miss Nelson asks that "Jefferson Week" be observed in the schools and asks promptness in supplying information to aid the teachers' certification department.

Here this year is doubtless aware of the fact that the petitions for the Gundersen Measure were not filed due to the fact that they lacked a thousand signatures, and the bill will not be voted on in the June primaries," says Miss Nelson. "If the measure had become a law, many school districts would have been seriously injured. Now that that danger is over, we are constructing a new plan for a continuing waste and thus saving a saving expenditure. We know that school boards and superintendents are carefully studying the problem of finance, and are doing much to reduce expenses and maintain efficiency. In many of the small schools they plan to eliminate many clerical and thus reduce the number of teachers and classes. We are working now on curricula for high schools with a United States history course of 200 pages or less, and we are glad to have you learn of ways in which you have reduced expenses without reducing the efficiency of your school."

Tag Offenders Of Incorrect Speech

Carlsburg, W. Va., March 31.—The English classes of the Washington Irving High School recently conducted a campaign known as "Correct Speech Week," to improve the English spoken by the student body. Sponsors of the movement announced a hurry call for more tags before the week was half over.

Church Against Women Ministers

Stockholm, March 31.—The government committee appointed to investigate the demand of Swedish feminists that women be allowed in the Swedish State Church on an equal footing with men has reported in favor of the women. The committee, however, recommended a selection and gradual admission and, at first, to those clerical posts which would benefit most from the kind of service for which women are peculiarly fitted. Opinions of chapters all over Sweden have been requested by the government. While all the chapters emphasize the great value of women in Christian and practical work in general and urge further utilization of their services, virtually all voiced strong objection to the admission of women to the pulpit.

LOVE IS A SICKNESS

Love is a sickness full of woes.
All remedies refusing;
A plant that with most cutting grows.
Most barren with best using:
Why so?
More we enjoy it, more it dies;
If not enjoy'd, it sighing cries.
Hey, ho!

Love is a torment of the mind,
A tempest everlasting;
And love hath made it of a kind
Not well, nor full, nor fasting:
Why so?
More we enjoy it, more it dies;
If not enjoy'd, it sighing cries,
Hey, ho!

LETTER FROM SALLY AITHERTON TO JAMES CONDON

Oh, Jimmie, Jimmie, what a boy you are! You say: "Do you realize you have been away over two months and not a one has heard from you? At least, I have not heard from you and as Sam has made no mention of your name I didn't feel privileged to ask him if he had heard."

Has it been only two months since I left home? Positively, it seems to me as though I had been here forever. I feel as though I had hit the thing I want to do most in the world. It's a constant fight every minute in this advertising business, and I am never quite sure whether my boss is going to purr like a kitty cat or growl like a bear, he is so temperamental. But that makes him interesting, Jim.

I didn't say "Poor Boy!" when I read your letter over. Instead I smiled. You thought you were writing me the kind of a letter that a sophisticated man of the world would write, but you didn't at all. And as for me not wanting to live without the admiration or devotion of some man—I guess that's true, Jim. But isn't it true of every woman?

You say also, "You let me love you." Good Lord, Jim, of course I let you love me! I've let a dozen men love me, but I didn't allow them to tell me so, although they knew they loved me and they knew I knew they loved me. But also remember this, my boy, they knew I didn't love them.

So you think I pique a man's curiosity, Jim? That's interesting, if true. And let me make a little confession to you. I sometimes rather pique my own. I'm not always sure just what I'm going to do next, are you? It makes life so much more thrilling, doesn't it, if you cannot see it all out and dried before you.

And so Sam hasn't mentioned me to you since I left. Does he seem happy, Jim? Honestly, I'd really like him to be happy. You know he wasn't happy at all with me, and yet he's got one of those peculiar dispositions that makes him think I've been horrid to him to leave him, and he won't just own up to himself that he is happier without me.

Isn't it queer, Jim, that we have where recommend it. The kind you have always bought bears signature of so many complexes and inhibitions? I've had them all my life until now; but now I feel free, Jim, much freer than I ever have been before. I have enough work to keep my restlessness in subjection, and I have a feeling I'm going to make something of myself.

Jim, I think I should have been a man—not that I don't like being a woman, but a man can change his mind often without people calling attention to the fact. A man has a chance to grow, to throw aside the things that hamper him, and above all else, a man can make friends with other men.

You see, Jim, I'm not treating you like a boy any more. I'm talking to you now like a friend. I need a friend, Jim. Be mine, won't you? At least until you marry some sweet girl who will hate me and probably hardly allow you to speak to me. ## Love IS A SICKNESS

Love is a sickness full of woes.

All remedies refusing:

A plant that with most cutting grows.

Most barren with best using:

Why so?

More we enjoy it, more it dies:

If not enjoy'd, it sighing cries.

Hey, ho!

Love is a torment of the mind.

A tempest everlasting:

And love hath made it of a kind

Not well, nor full, nor lasting:

Why so?

More we enjoy it, more it dies:

If not enjoy'd, it sighing cries.

Hey, ho!

LETTER FROM SALLY ATHERTON TO JAMES CONDON

Oh, Jimmie, Jimmie, what a big you are! You say: "Do you realize you have been away over two months and not a one has heard from you? At least, I have not heard from you and as Sam has made no mention of your name I didn't feel privileged to ask him if he had heard."

Has it been only two months since I left home? Positively, it seems to me as though I had been here forever. I feel as though I had hit the thing I want to do most in the world. It's a constant fight every minute in this advertising business, and I am never quite sure whether my boss is going to purr like a kitty cat or growl like a bear, he is so temperamental. But that makes him interesting, Jim.

I didn't say "Poor Boy!" when I read your letter over. Instead I smiled. You thought you were writing me the kind of a letter that a sophisticated man of the world would write, but you didn't at all. And as for me not wanting to live without the admiration or devotion of some man—I guess that's true, Jim. But isn't it true of every woman?

You say also, "You let me be you." Good Lord, Jim, of course I let you love me! I've let a dozen men love me, but I didn't allow them to tell me so, although they knew they loved me and they knew I knew they loved me. But also remember this, my boy, they know I didn't love them.

So you think I pique a man's curiosity, Jim? That's interesting, it true. And let me make a little confession to you. I sometimes rather enjoy what I'm going to do next, are you? It makes life so much more thrilling, doesn't it, if you cannot see it all out and dried before you.

And so Sam hasn't mentioned me to you since I left. Does he seem happy, Jim? Honestly, I'd really like him to be happy. You know he wasn't happy at all with me, and yet he's got one of those peculiar dispositions that makes him think I've been hard to him to leave him, and he won't just own up to himself that he is happier without me.

Isn't it queer, Jim, that we have so many complex and inhibitions? I've had them all my life until now, but now I feel free, Jim, much freer than I ever have been before. I'm a enough yours to keep my restlessness in subjection, and I have a feeling I'm going to make something of myself.

KIWANIANS IN SESSION BACK UP BOYS' WORK

Club, in Business Session at Luncheon Meeting, Takes Unanimous Action

MANDAN BUNCH COMING

Inter-City Club Program to Attract More Than 100 Kiwanians Next Week

Members of the Kiwanis club, at their weekly luncheon at the McKenzie hotel today, voted to cooperate with other organizations in inducing the continuance of the boys' welfare work in the city, and to participate as individuals in the community in the necessary steps for the continuance of the program. The matter was discussed by members, who also discussed other projects which may be launched by the club in the near future which it is believed by members will be important and valuable steps in development work. Because the program is in formative stage, its full portent was not revealed to the public.

The club's Secretary, E. A. Thorberg and Worth Lumry as delegates to the Kiwanis International convention to be held in Denver in June, and named Spencer Boise and Dr. C. E. Stackhouse as alternates.

There was an even heat in the automobile race in the attendance contest. There was a 100 percent attendance of members of the club, the announcement being greeted by the members with cheers. One member left an important business conference in order to make the unusual record for a business men's organization.

In an all-club program, the members heard details of certain work undertaken by the club's assistance, the nature of which was not revealed.

George Russ divulged secrets in the life of Dr. N. O. Ramstad in giving his birthday congratulatory talk, and assured the members that Dr. Ramstad's removal from Wisconsin was quite voluntary. Wm. S. Neal, chairman of the day, won the attendance prize gift drawn by lot, George Russ being the donor.

President L. E. Birdzell announced that Jack Runyan would represent the club on the inter-city rehabilitation committee to aid disabled soldiers trained for new vocations, to obtain employment.

It was announced that next week the Mandan Kiwanis club will come to Bismarck for an inter-club day, the luncheon to be held in the main dining room of the McKenzie hotel, at 12:45 p. m. It is expected that more than 100 Kiwanians of the two cities will be present for the program.

TWO BANKERS UNDER ARREST

Charged With Irregularities in Crookston Bank

Crookston, Minn., Mar. 31.—C. E. Gildersleeve and H. O. Anderson, assistant cashier and bookkeeper, respectively, of the Merchants National Bank here which closed March 15, today were given a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Alexander Fosmark following their arrest yesterday on a charge of embezzlement and were held to the federal grand jury which meets at Fergus Falls May 6th.

Gildersleeve's bail was fixed at $10,000 and Anderson's at $5,000, which was furnished by both men. The alleged embezzlement was discovered by R. Goodheart, national bank examiner, in charge of the closed bank, who declares the shortage will amount to between $15,000 and $20,000. Their alleged manipulations, Mr. Goodheart declared, are in no way responsible for the bank's failure. Rather, he said, the failure of the bank brought to light the juggling of accounts which had been going on for several years.

HAGEN HELD TO BE GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict Against Former Bank Head

Grand Forks, N. D., March 31.—"Guilty as charged in the indictment" was the verdict returned at 4:20 o'clock Saturday night by the jury which tried H. J. Hagen, former president of the Scandinavian American bank of Fargo for "knowingly permitting, conniving at, and being accessory to the receiving of money on deposit in an insolvent bank."

The jury retired about 6 p. m. Hagen showed no emotion as Mr. W. Spaulding, clerk of court, read the verdict. Except for the attorneys, court officials and a few of Hagen's friends, several of whom are also facing trial in connection with the alleged wrecking of the Fargo bank, the court room was empty.

The penalty provided by law for the offense of which Hagen has been convicted is a fine of not to exceed $10,000 or imprisonment in the state penitentiary for a period of not to exceed five years or both fine and imprisonment.

CHARGES MUCH MONEY USED IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Senator Norbeck Assails Coolidge Forces for Conduct of Campaign

Chicago, March 31.—Charges that there was much more lavishness in the Coolidge campaign than during the Lowden campaign in that state are being made today in a telegram from U. S. Senator Peter Norbeck, leader in the Johnson campaign.

Senator Norbeck, pledged to the Johnson candidacy, was elected as a delegate to the national convention in the primary last week.

A telegram regarding the denial of M. Williams, national director of the Coolidge forces that excessive amounts were spent in South Dakota were made dated March 29th.

"The statement of the Coolidge management as to their expenses in S. D. is untrue in many respects."

"They spent about $15,000 in advertising alone, during the last week, misrepresenting Johnson's record. Johnson only spent $300 in advertising."

"Paid workers were much in evidence on the street corners and around villages and towns."

"A daily newspaper was established in the State capital to champion the Coolidge call."

"They maintain elaborate headquarters under the direction of Feleral employees. Expensive offices and organization forces were maintained in towns and cities."

There was more evidence of lavishness in the Coolidge campaign than in the Lowden campaign in 1920. I believe the expenses averaged $3.00 for every vote they received."

"In addition, outside corporations ran thousands of lines of advertising in every paper in the state, including the smallest weekly, for three weeks preceding the election, the avowed purpose of which was to break down the progressive forces."

U.S. DOLLAR IS NOW STANDARD OF ALL WORLD

Federal Reserve Board, in Annual Report, Shows Improvement in Trade

FINDS IMPROVEMENT

Post-War Readjustment Period in This Nation Rapidly Nears Completion

Washington, March 31.—(By the A. P.) The United States has taken on a new responsibility in its relation to the world economy, in the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board, which in its annual report made public today, states that the dollar is now the standard of all world currencies, and that the post-war readjustment period in this nation is rapidly nearing completion.

Since the federal reserve system is accepted as charting the business course at home, its correspondingly increased power and responsibility in the larger field is examined by the board in its report, and it is set itself to the task of explaining the post-war functions of the system. It indicates a belief that the general conception of how the system can give full force and effect to its chartered powers of aiding commerce and industry is too limited and makes a definite move toward a policy of promulgating such instructions hereafter.

The year 1923 as a whole has provided a good perspective of post-war readjustment, and the board says of conditions that economic readjustment has proceeded rapidly, "and is now nearing completion." This condition, a near-perfecting basis, has caused the board to omit from its report the usual discussion of administrative matters and to turn its full attention to a discussion of the broader aspects of the workings of the reserve system.

"The year covered in this report," it says, "is of more than ordinary interest since it has afforded an opportunity for the Federal Reserve system to function under circumstances less influenced by conditions arising out of the war than any previous year. In the absence of those major disturbances which so profoundly affected business and credit conditions during the war and early conditions during the post-war period, the Federal Reserve system, in its capacity as a credit policy, in response to prevailing economic conditions and on the basis of earlier experience, have undergone a fuller development."

Volume, Character
The volume, character and operation of the Federal Reserve Bank, the extent and influence of gold movements upon the credit and currency situation, rate policy and the monetary policy underlying general credit policy, and the relation of the Federal Reserve Bank to the future have been an important part of the Federal Reserve Bank and in the deliberations and decisions of its governing authorities.

"Taking the year as a whole and regarding it in the perspective of the post-war readjustment period, there is abundant evidence that, so far as the United States is concerned, economic readjustment has been proceeding at a rapid rate and is now nearing completion. The economic balance as between various industries and the country is not yet fully restored but during the past two years there has been rapid progress in the direction of a more stable equilibrium and of a better alignment of prices between different commodity groups."

Cockneys Blame "Bloomin'" Yank for Living Costs and Troubles

A TYPICAL COCKNEY MERCHANT AND HIS WIFE, ALONGSIDE THEIR HORSE AND WAGON. (BELOW) JOSEPH HEARE, THE COUNTERMONGER

Turning to the question of gold movements, the board says that "concentrated here is improperly employed in the country's own economic affairs as well as the economic and financial affairs of the world."

Mills in South Show Increase in Cotton Consumed

London, March 31.—Cotton mills in southern states consumed 4,279,000 pounds of cotton during 1923, or 61 percent of the total cotton mill consumption of the United States, according to R. L. McKellar, foreign traffic manager of the Southern Railway system.

Motion Pictures of Lips Aid the Deaf to Speak

By means of motion pictures of the lips of a person speaking, the deaf, children with defective speech, and foreigners are greatly assisted in their efforts to talk correctly and to interpret sounds by lip-reading. A specially devised camera takes a series of "close-ups" of the "model" pronouncing the words, taking great care to move his lips in the precise positions for forming the sounds. The pictures are shown with the words and symbols to accompany them, supplying a graphic "pattern" for the pupils to follow.

Concrete Railway Ties Have Wooden Plugs for Spikes
Concrete railway ties, used on a section of a right of way in northwestern Iowa, have proved to resist wear and weather equally as well as wooden ones, according to a report. It is believed that this employment will result in great savings of lumber and labor, since they will not require replacing as frequently as the timber. The cement beam consists of two blocks tied together with steel straps. The rails are fastened on by means of spikes driven into treated-wood plugs set in the concrete.

Tobacco Smoke Not Harmful According to Mine Tests

To test the effect of tobacco fumes, three men were confined in a closed chamber where the air was so smoky that it was impossible to see across the room. The atmosphere was so irritating to the eyes that it was necessary to wear goggles. After an hour and a half, samples of the air and the blood of the smokers were taken for analysis. The experiment was made by the bureau of mines, and, as a result, it was decided that the harm from smoking indoors, or in mines, is negligible.

Pulling Car Out of Mud

When stuck in mud the lone autoist need despair as long as he has a pair of good chains with him. For, with their help, the car can usually be run out of the mud, providing, of course, it is not too deep. One end of a chain is fastened around the tire and the spokes of a rear wheel, while a short, stout iron bar is pushed through the links at the other end of the chain and a tow rope tied to this bar. If no iron bar is handy or it is too large to be pushed through the links, the tow rope is tied to the last cross chain. The other end of the tow rope is securely tied to a tree located in front of the car, slightly toward the side. By applying power to the wheel, it will run along the chain for a foot or more. The operation is repeated until the wheel is out of the mud.

Cleaning White Woolens and Furs

Garments are often dry cleaned at home, but the result obtained in the case of white woolens or furs is not always satisfactory. However, the simple trick described below can be employed by anyone, and the results will prove a pleasant surprise. After the woolen or fur has been washed and rinsed in gasoline, it should be wrung or shaken out thoroughly and placed in a deep pan. A pound or two of white flour should then be sifted over and rubbed into the article. After allowing the article to dry on the line, the flour is whisked out, leaving the garment in a cleaner and whiter condition than usual after cleaning. This is due to the fact that the flour sifts into the fur or fabric and absorbs the dirt with the gasoline that cannot be wrung or shaken out. When whisked out, the dry flour naturally carries the dirt with it.

Simple Window Aerial

Various kinds of indoor aerials are advocated for buildings where any other type is impossible; one of the most effective is shown in the illustration. Two spreaders of heavy iron wire or light iron rod, a little shorter than the width of the window, are bent with an eye at each end, and one in the center. The two spreaders are connected with a number of the light curtain springs that are widely used instead of curtain rods. The efficiency of the aerial depends to a great extent upon the number of springs used. The spreaders are suspended between the top and bottom of the window casing, insulators being used as shown. The springs are drawn up tight so that they will not touch each other, and the aerial will not swing.

"The Beltrami"—A City Two-Flat

Two-Flat Building for the Small Investor

The duplex plan shown in the illustration is becoming increasingly popular in the residential sections of our large cities. There are many men who cannot finance an investment in a large apartment house to whom the financial advantages of this type of home appeals very strongly. Living in one apartment, he can secure sufficient rental from the other apartment to take care of taxes and repairs, and slowly amortize the mortgage with which he financed the building. This is a stepping stone to financial independence, as when the mortgage is paid off, he can sell the building and find himself with sufficient funds to invest on a larger scale. Living in the building, he can do a good deal of his own repairs and thus save considerable on maintenance costs, and he can exercise far better supervision over his property than he could if he did not occupy a part of it. While any building material can be used, the Beltrami has been designed for the use of smooth faced concrete block of granite texture. These can be produced at low cost, and the owner can have all sides of his building faced with these blocks to give the building an attractive appearance from all directions. Granite faced block will be found waterproof and dry, and it has a life and sparkle not found in other materials. They are rapidly displacing the unsightly rock faced block that used to disgrace our cities. The plan illustrated is a long modern lines, showing two good bedrooms on each floor with bath between, entirely shut off from the living rooms. The kitchen is well lighted and ventilated. There is an ample dining room, and the fine living room is skillfully combined with the sun-porch to make one large, cheery room. For the flat roof, wood construction with air space for insulating purposes can be used, or at very slight extra expense, a reinforced concrete slab can be placed over it. It has the advantage over the pitched roof in lower maintenance costs and is a convenient place for the installation of the inevitable radio antenna without which no home is complete today. A feature of the basement is the splendidly lighted workroom in the front, which will be a joy to any owner who is handy with tools and likes to make things in his spare time.

ALL RETURNS LEAVE STATUS IN N. D. SAME

Fargo, N. D., March 31.—Complete unofficial returns on the Republican delegate and presidential elector contests do not change the lineup as indicated on tabulation. Six LaFollette adherents have been elected delegates to the national convention, and four of the five presidential electors nominated are LaFollette supporters. Returns from 1,907 precincts on Democratic contests make no change in the situation in that party. The Republican delegates elected are: Fisher, LaFollette, 45,735; Larson, LaFollette, 46,500; Sorlie, LaFollette, 44,283; Spalding, Coolidge, 44,280; Stern, Coolidge, 44,254; Elliott, LaFollette, 43,788; Snowfield, LaFollette, 43,759; Dinnie, Coolidge, 42,530; Ward, Coolidge, 42,612; Vogel, LaFollette, 42,420; Severson, Coolidge, 42,355. The Republican electors nominated are: Mrs. A. M. Christensen, a Coolidge supporter; and Hall, Larson, Magnuson and McGrath, all LaFollette adherents.

Returns on the Democratic contest indicate that the Perry and Johnson factions will have equal representation at the convention in New York. The ten high delegates, all of whom are likely elected, are: O'Connor, Hughes, McCoy, Johnson and Leavitt of the Murphy faction; Fisk, Murphy, O'Connell and Lillibridge of the Perry faction; and John Burke, endorsed by both groups. The five high Democrats on the electoral ticket are: McDonald, Kennedy, Breen, Trimble and Strauss. NEW UMBRELLA

One of the most pretentious umbrellas seen this season is very short and stubby as to stature and has a beaded handle. BLUE TWEED
Very youthful and decorative top coats are made of blue tweed, the fashionable Madonna shade, collared with gray squirrel. THREE DAILY SCOTT'S EMULSION

Wooden Shoes

"The peasants in America do not wear wooden shoes at all, even in the fields!" writes Abbe Pierre, of Gascony. "No, the peasants there wear shoes of leather, although I should think that sabots would be much more serviceable, not only on the roads, but plowing.... And wooden shoes are far less expensive. Ah, that America is an extravagant country!"

Advertisements haven't yet taken the heavy wooden shoes from Gascon feet—nor yet the heavy wooden shoes from Gascon minds. Gascony thinks in the past. America in the future.

Advertisements make the difference. They crisscross improvements in countless directions across the miles. They distribute Fords, furnaces and electric lights so widely that foreigners think you extravagant to enjoy them. They put you in touch with the latest conveniences. They help so many people enjoy those conveniences that their cost to you is small.

You read advertisements to link yourself with the best—to substitute speed for the shambling progress you otherwise would have to make in the lonely wooden shoes of isolation.

Do you read them regularly? Good habits pay.
